THE COLLEGE OF BUSINESS AND BEHAVIORAL SCIENCE

Clemson University seeks applicants and nominations for the position of Dean. Clemson University seeks an experienced leader with an outstanding record of accomplishment who will guide the College of Business and Behavioral Science to new levels of excellence.

The College of Business and Behavioral Science (CBBS) is a unique academic environment, combining traditional business disciplines (e.g., accounting, economics, finance, marketing, and management) with social sciences (e.g., psychology, sociology, and political science), and graphic communications. The CBBS is Clemson University’s largest college, with approximately 4000 students and 160 faculty. The College offers 14 undergraduate degrees and 12 graduate degrees including PhD degrees in economics, management, and psychology.

The new Dean will have the opportunity to establish a strategic vision for the College’s unique disciplinary structure in alignment with the University’s Academic Plan, and build upon its multidisciplinary tradition. The new Dean should provide leadership across all units represented in the College, grow and enhance undergraduate and graduate programs, provide advocacy for research, establish strong relationships with constituents inside and outside of the university, and lead the College’s fund-raising efforts. A comprehensive description of the administrative duties of the Dean is included on the College website <http://business.clemson.edu/dean/director/AdminResp.pdf>. The Dean reports to the Provost (Vice-President for Academic Affairs).

Candidates should possess an earned doctorate in a discipline represented in the College, a record of tangible accomplishments in academic administrative leadership, proven communication and interpersonal skills, demonstrated strategic insight and team-building skills, and the ability to build strong relationships with business, community, and public-sector constituents. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to diversity and the development of an inclusive campus community.

Clemson University is a public land-grant institution located in the northwest corner of South Carolina along the dynamic I-85 corridor that connects Atlanta, Georgia and Charlotte, North Carolina. The campus is situated along the banks of Lake Hartwell in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Clemson University is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applicants from female and minority candidates.

Review of applications will begin on November 30, 2005 and continue until the position is filled.

Please submit applications or nominations to:
Caron St. John, Chair
Dean Search Committee
Clemson University
346 Sirrine Hall
Clemson, SC  29634
864-656-7235
scaron@clemson.edu

Clemson University is an AA/EEO employer and does not discriminate against any person or group on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran's status.