American Politics/Public Administration/Public Policy/Methodology. The Department of Political Science at Clemson University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level. The successful candidate will teach research methods and data analysis in the Master of Public Administration program, offered in cooperation with the University of South Carolina. Other teaching will fit the successful candidate’s interests and complement the Department’s current offerings. In addition to the MPA, the Department offers a graduate Certificate in Public Management, as well as a BA and BS in Political Science with concentrations including public policy, public administration and American politics. There might also be opportunities to teach in the Ph.D. program in Policy Studies. Clemson University is a research university, located half way between Atlanta and Charlotte, with plans to hire more than 300 faculty over the next 5 years to replace retiring faculty and to grow in selected emphasis areas. The university encourages interdisciplinary research and teaching across its broad academic emphasis areas. A doctorate by the time of employment is required. Salary is competitive. Applications should include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, transcripts of graduate work, three letters of recommendation, a sample of scholarly work, and evidence of teaching performance. Send all application materials to Joseph Stewart, Jr., Chair, Department of Political Science, Clemson University, 232 Brackett Hall, Clemson, SC 29634-1354. Applications received by October 21, 2005 are assured full consideration. Clemson University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate against any individual on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, national origin, religion, sexual orientation or veteran status.